Ovens Fire Complex Community

Wednesday 29 January 2020

Fire Situation Update

Total Area of Ovens Fire Complex - 102462ha approx.

The fire is generally quiet and is not exhibiting much fire intensity.

Crews on the ground are presently working on hotspots located at Carboor East, Nug Nug and Upper Rose River area.

Hotspots around the perimeter continue to be actioned as they are identified by aircraft recon and ground crews.

Crews and heavy machinery continue to work on road and track network re-opening and hazardous tree treatment.

As the fireground becomes drier, smoke from inside the fire perimeter will be visible to the public as unburnt areas well within control lines continue to burn out.

Community Meetings

There are currently no community meetings planned at this time. Regular updates are being published on the DELWP Hume Facebook page to keep residents informed.

Emergency Water Relief Program

If you have water contamination due to bushfire. Eligible residents will be provided a tank water flush and 5000 litres of water. South East Water are facilitating this program for the north east fires. Call 131 851 for further information.

Flying drones near emergencies

Emergency situations can be dangerous for people, property and the environment. Flying your drone near emergencies can cause major safety risks to response teams both in the air and on the ground. While it might be tempting to take footage, doing so could break the drone safety rules and affect rescue efforts. If you fly –they can't. Someone's life could be on the line. To protect yourself and the safety of others, unless you have specific permission, never fly your drone in or near natural disasters such as bushfires.
